Worksheet 1 — Spanish Colonial Census Extraction

Course: Census Records for Puerto Rican Genealogy

Module: Module 2 — Spanish Colonial Census

Purpose: Extract and analyze a household entry from a Spanish colonial padrón or municipal census fragment, documenting the source completely and evaluating the evidence under the Three-Layer framework.

Household Extraction Table

Record each person exactly as written in the record, including original spelling and abbreviations. Use the Notes column for anything you cannot read with certainty.

Line	Name as Recorded	Role in Household	Age	Marital Status	Race Classification	Status (Free / Enslaved)	Occupation	Notes
1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8
9
10

Add rows as needed. Transcribe what the record says, not what you believe is correct; analysis comes below.

Property and Economic Notes

Field	Entry
Property or land described
Livestock or crops listed
Household economic classification (if given)
Other notations in the margin

Analysis Section

Question	Answer
Estimated birth year of head of household
What does the race or status classification record, and who assigned it?
What do the occupation and property entries suggest about the household's economic position?
How does this entry compare with other census years for the same family?
What conflicts with evidence you already hold?

Three-Layer Evidence Summary

For each fact you plan to use from this record, classify the evidence it provides for your research question.
